Ten more employer leads and two checked new-grad routes

Researched 2026-11-12.

Strengths and best use

The useful part of the reel is a starting list of employer boards spanning developer tools, fintech, healthcare, and AI. Use it to find roles with explicitly stated requirements and locations.

Current checks

The current Perplexity board exposes a full-time Member of Technical Staff new-grad application in San Francisco. Cursor lists a new 2027 software-engineering requisition in San Francisco with an on-site designation. Use those exact postings and their requirements. Employer-wide remote language can differ from the arrangement on a particular job.

Project idea

Read one official listing per company and record whether the link opens an application, a general portal, or a careers index. Use the requisition ID to detect a replacement or duplicate. Compare role scope with portfolio evidence and review work arrangement before applying.

Reusable prompt

```
Create a dated shortlist using official requisitions. Verify title, location, work arrangement, application status and requirements. Keep company-only leads separate from roles with an application page.
```
